Private Dining with Sacre Bleu Paris

Last month we were asked to set the table for luxury travel planner Stéphanie Boutet-Fajol of Sacre Bleu Paris to kick off the Spring season of her private dining experiences. Stephanie and her amazing polyglot team gathered an impressive group of creative women to show off their respective talents, which served as the tip of the iceberg of what she can pull together for private experiences for her clients. Think birthday yacht lunch on the Seine or dinner party in a typical Parisian apartment with a killer view. So chic!

While we weren't sipping rosé floating past Notre-Dame, we were in an equally amazing space: the beautiful home of private chef Veronique Dagneau-Bawol of Cuisine Elegante. Veronique prepared a beautiful lunch that we washed down with wines chosen by private sommelier Géraldine de Korsaint-Gilly, who runs Vine Domini. Krystal Kenney of Miss Paris Photo took our photos, all featured here, and of course, I styled the tables with Madame de la Maison's Bleu Minuit tablecloth, Rose napkins, and rental antiques.

If you want to organize a private dining experience in Paris reach out to Stephanie of Sacre Bleu Paris.

Bisous xx,
Ajvi

All photos by Krystal Kenney of Miss Paris Photo.

Posted on April 17, 2018
Ajiri Aki

Share:

Older Post

Back to Table Topics

Newer Post

Back to the top

Email address Subscribe

Copyright © 2023 Madame de la Maison.
Theme by Clean Themes. Powered by Shopify

Chat with us